A Question of Grammar.
 "Ain't you got any sense?" asked the 4-year-old daughter of the man who doesn't believe in corporal punishment. "Why, my dear," said the father reprovingly, "aren't you ashamed to talk to papa that way?"
 "Excuse me, papa," she answered. "I meant to say 'isn't you got any sense?'—Indianapolis News.

Caused a Slight Family Jar.
 "Maria, did you read about that Philadelphia woman who was cured of her mental troubles by fasting 45 days? I believe such a treatment would cure that unhappy temper of yours."
 "Yes, it would make an angel of me. Is that what you would like, John Billings?"—Exchange.

They Marry Young.
 The Boer youth were extremely young. His education over and he is considered a man of business when he is 16. His bride does not come to him portionless, but usually with a dowry consisting of cows, goats and sheep, a span of oxen and a quiet riding horse. To each child that is born a well-to-do Boer likes to assign certain farm stock as a "nest egg" for a future dowry or as a start in life.

He Craved a Favor.
 "Say," called the victim from beneath the bed coverings.
 "Well?" asked one of the burglars, gruffly.
 "Would you fellows mind carrying off that ornamental watchdog of mine in the front yard along with the rest of your swag?"—Philadelphia North American.

Cautions.
 "Do you think a prizefighter has a right to call himself a gentleman?"
 "Er—there isn't one within hearing, is there?"—Indianapolis Press.
